

Made for men's health:
ProGen™ and Mister™

Andropause has received little attention because it sneaks up on its victims. Unlike a woman, whose sex hormones drop abruptly during perimenopause, a healthy man's total plasma testosterone level declines very slowly with age.³

The gradual loss of muscle mass, increase in fat, loss of libido, changes to skin and hair are often assumed to be "normal" results of stress and aging.

The Change of Life— It's Not Just for Women Anymore

Ever wonder what happened the lean, energetic, fun-loving guy you used to be? Has your zest for living seem to have evaporated along with the years? Is your couch the place where you now make your greatest impact?

If so, you may be experiencing "andropause," the male version of menopause. Caused by declining testosterone levels, this constellation of symptoms diminishes the quality of life for millions of men.¹ The degree to which men experience a wide range of symptoms is illustrated by this information from a recent London study:

Percentage of Subjects Who Experience Specific Andropausal Symptoms ²
fatigue	82%	aching, stiff joints	63%
depression	70%	in hands and feet
irritability	61%,	increased sweating	53%
reduced libido	79%	esp. at night
awareness of	43%	classic hot flushes	22%
premature aging		erectile dysfunction	80%

Risks of Hormone Replacement Therapy Now Available to Men, Too

While the medical profession is just beginning to define andropause, doctors are prescribing medical testosterone via pills, patches or injections.^{4,5} While testosterone therapy helps to manage symptoms, there are serious potential side effects, as with women's hormone replacement therapy. "Androgen supplementation could have adverse effects on different organs, namely, the liver, lipid profile, cardiovascular disease, prostate, sleep disorders and emotional behavior."³

For those who don't find those health risks acceptable, the following selection of Young Living essential oils and supplements may naturally support your body to increase its production of testosterone. As your system is very complex and so little is known about andropause, you may wish to begin by locating a specialist in men's health to determine your testosterone level.

RADIANT HEALTH NEWS

Men's Hormonal Health Kit

Mister essential oil blend was formulated especially for men. Mister contains phytosterols which may block excess estrogens in the body. Apply topically on the male reproductive VitaFlex points on the inside of your ankles. (Locate by drawing a line from the ankle bone to the corner of the heel. In the center of that line is the reflex point.) May be taken internally (20 drops/capsule/day) with a full glass of pure water.

ProGen capsules contain saw palmetto, zinc, L-arginine and essential oils. The best known use of saw palmetto is for the treatment of prostate enlargement. It has also been proven to be as effective as prescription phytosterols (at considerably less expense).⁷

Men Need MegaCal™ to Fight Osteoporosis

Andropause, like menopause, causes a decrease in bone mineral density, resulting in osteoporosis. Protect those bones with MegaCal, which includes the most important bone-building minerals in a bioavailable, liquid form.

PD 80/20™ is Young Living's most powerful hormone product (especially for men) and well worth the price. It is definitely a "youth-maker." A blend of 600 mg of pregnenolone and 200 mg of DHEA.

Progescence™ skin cream delivers 400 mg of progesterone per ounce. A phytosterol, it elevates mood, increases bone mass, uses body fat as a source of energy and increases libido (for both men and women). Gary Young suggests a very small dose of 1/16 tsp. or less every other day.

Tell Me Something I Don't Know

Lifestyle choices make a huge impact on the health of our hormonal system. Getting adequate nutrition, exercise and managing your weight all contribute to more balanced hormones, thus fewer and milder symptoms.
